LOCAL BRIEFS—

A large lot of oak and pine wood on hand and for sale by Joel D. Whitaker, No. 4, Martin street.

The tract of land formerly occupied by J. V. McNamara, just east of Raleigh will be sold to-day at public auction. See notice.

We are pleased to know that Messrs. Sutherlin & Johnston, of Charlotte, cotton factors, have determined to locate permanently in this city.

The general business of the city was quiet yesterday, the continued inclement weather having a depressing effect upon trade. The receipts of cotton were 104 bales, with market firm at 12¼ for middlings.

No "forty acres and a mule" will be given on Christmas day, but we hope to hear that everybody in our community has a slice of turkey or fowl of some description. Remember the poor, ye upon whom God has showered his blessings.

Everything in the feed line can be obtained of W. A. Gattis, at his store in the Adams' building, Wilmington street, at the lowest figures. His stock is kept complete all the time, and those wanting goods in his line are requested to call.

The corpse of Mr. Wm. Gay passed through this city on Tuesday morning in charge of his brother, Mr. James Gay. The deceased, formerly of Oxford, was a resident of Rome, Ga., where he was recently attacked with fatal result by pneumonia.

R. H. Weathers, opposite Sam Haywood's shop, Wilmington street, advertises to have the cheapest groceries, the best N. C. Corn and Rye whiskey, Southampton and Apple Brandy and sweet cider.

Some three hundred yards of crossties have been laid on the W. N. C. R. R. from Old Fort going West. It is a beginning, and may be pushed to Wilson and Malone's Store by the first of January, a distance of two miles.

The hotels of the city are quite well filled with the attendants upon the U. S. Circuit Court and the Grand Lodge of Masons now in session in this city. The attendance upon the latter has probably not been surpassed for a number of years.

There will be an adjourned meeting of the Board of Aldermen tomorrow (Thursday) night, at 7½ o'clock, to consider the report of the committee upon the question of funding the debt of the city. Let there be a full attendance of the Board, as the people are impatient that this question should be definitely disposed of.

The citizens' association of Chicago have succeeded in getting a number of illegal voters and repeaters sentenced to imprisonment for one year each in the county jail and a fine of $1,000. Several other repeaters and also a number of election judges are to be tried this week.

SNOW AT SALEM.—We learn that on Saturday morning last the snow at Salem was five inches deep, this winter luxury having fallen upon a sleet and consequently stuck ad libitum.

SHERIFFS SETTLING.—On Tuesday Sheriff Bland Wallace of Duplin, paid over to the State Treasurer the sum of $4,654 15; Sheriff R. McMillan, of Robeson, paid $5,410 22; Sheriff R. T. Rhyne, of Gaston, paid $5,554.09; Sheriff J. T. Price, of Pasquotank, paid $4,688.00.

THE RE ELECTION OF GRAND MASTER BLOUNT.—The re-election of this gentleman last night as Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Masons of North Carolina, against his expressed desire not to retain the office for another year, was a deserved compliment, as in his official capacity during the past twelve months he has given entire satisfaction to the Masonic order of the State.

A NEW DEPUTY REVENUE OFFICER.—Under Grant's warning of "nepotism" on the part of Revenue Collector Ike Young, that official has found it necessary to make some changes. F. M. Sorrell, of this city known as the Secretary of the Republican Executive Committee of this State, and who did much of the hard work in the late Convention campaign, under this change, has been appointed Deputy under Col. Young, and has been assigned to duty in Wake. If he works as faithfully in this capacity as he did in that of Secretary he will prove an effective officer.

A GOOD MONTH'S WORK.—During the month of November Superintendent Mills, of the Oxford Orphan Asylum travelled through Eastern Carolina with nine of the Orphans giving concerts for the benefit of the Asylum. During the month he travelled 315 miles by private conveyance, at a total cost of all expenses of $11.50, and obtained from contribution $1,200. During this time he travelled on five different steamers, on the Cape Fear, Tar River, Chowan and Cashie rivers without any cost. This month's work placed the Asylum ahead of all indebtedness for past months.

WESTERN RAILROAD.—Some ten or twelve gentlemen from Fayetteville are in attendance upon the Federal Court as witnesses in a suit brought by Seymour & Co., of New York, on a contract entered into by them in 1855 to build the Western Road. They threw up the contract after a short time, and entered suit at once against the Company for alleged failure to comply with the terms entered into. The suit was continued on the docket until the war. It has been recently revived, and probably stands as the oldest case before the Court.

Messrs. David Barnes and T. C. Fuller appear for the plaintiffs, and Messrs. J. C. McRae and W. McL. McKay for the R. R. Grand Company.

U. S. CIRCUIT COURT.—In the Federal Court Tuesday the jury, in the case of James H. Edwards, of Franklin, charged with having in possession manufactured tobacco not properly stamped, failed to agree, and the judge having withdrawn a juror declared a mistrial, and the case was continued until the next term of the Court.

In the case of Augustus Belmont vs. the Auditor of the State, in the matter of the special tax bonds, being an effort to compel the Auditor to levy a tax to pay the interest upon the special tax bonds, being the suit transferred from the State Courts, a motion to remand was argued by Messrs Smith & Strong and Merrimon, Fuller & Ashe for the State, upon the ground that the Federal Court had no jurisdiction in the premises. Belmont was originally represented in this suit by Messrs. Reverdy Johnson and R. C. Badger, but in the absence of Mr. Johnson, who is at present in Europe, Mr. Badger alone represented the plaintiff. The motion to remand was allowed by the Court.

CLOSE OF THE M. E. CONFERENCE.—The M. E. Conference for this State, which has been in session in Wilmington since Wednesday last, adjourned sine die on Monday last after a most harmonious and interesting session. The resolutions to hold a Methodist centennial in Raleigh in March next were adopted, with some changes. The resolution to raise $60,000 for the liquidation of the debts of the Methodist Colleges of the State and $25,000 for the building of a Centennial Metropolitan Church in Raleigh was amended as regards the latter clause, to the effect that subscriptions be taken up voluntarily throughout the State and at the time of the centennial meeting in this city, there being objections raised to making this collection obligatory upon the different churches in the State. Revs. R. O. Burton and N. H. D. Wilson were appointed a committee to prepare a centennial address to be issued to the Methodists of North Carolina, and on motion of Rev. J. P. Moore, the pastor of Edenton Street Church, Raleigh, was appointed an agent to receive all funds contributed towards building a Metropolitan Church.

GRAND LODGE F. A. M.

SECOND DAY.

The Grand Lodge of Masons of North Carolina met in the Masonic Hall in the Fisher building yesterday morning at 10 o'clock, Grand Master George W. Blount presiding. S. C. Shelton, Senior Grand Warden, appeared and took his seat, and the minutes of the previous day were read and approved.

Brother Mills read his report on the Orphan work, which was referred.

Various special committees on subjects recommended in the Grand Master's address were appointed, and resolutions offered which were referred to appropriate committees.

The reports of the committee on Charters and Dispensations reported favorably on the work of the following Lodges, under dispensation, and charters were granted to them: Numa F. Reid, Snow Creek, Trap Hill, Mount Mourne, Stanley and Apex.

The committee on the Grand Secretary's books reported, and recommended the adoption of his suggestion requiring subordinate Lodges to make their returns by the 25th of November.

On motion, the time of meeting of the Grand Lodge was changed from the first Monday to the first Tuesday in December.

Committee No. 3. on Suspensions and Expulsions made a report, which was received and adopted.

A resolution relative to donations to the Orphan Asylum was adopted.

Grand Master—Geo. W. Blount.
S. G. W.—Horace H. Munson.
J. G. W.—R. V. Blackstock.

Mr. J. H. Mills was unanimously re-elected Superintendent of the Orphan Asylums for the next year.

The installation of the officers and the dedication of the new Masonic Hall in which the Lodge is at present holding its sessions will take place to-night.

A. D. Royster & Bro., candy manufactures, are now offering their pure candy at northern prices. Our country merchants certainly can do no better in any other market and we ought always to give the preference to home enterprises. Our people ought not to be always dependent on the North for everything they eat and wear.

Our State will never be prosperous and rich until we make all we need (as far as we can) at home, and when any of our citizens put their capital in manufacturing enterprises they benefit the whole community by adding to its importance. Why send off our money to build up other communities when we can be as well, if not better served at home, and use our money to build up our own State.

MR. T. B. KINGSBURY.—We are requested by this gentleman to state that his connection with Our Living and Our Dead and the North Carolina Journal of Education has ceased. Also that the rumor that he was about to start a paper at Durham was premature. He requests us to say he would be glad to make a business connection with a paper or school. We would state that our brief of Mr. Kingsbury's intention to start a paper at Durham was obtained from the Tobacco Plant.

HORSE SWAPPING.—A correspondent writing us from Wake Forest says that a horse swapping came off a few days since, with a jolly crowd of some 300 present. At 9:30 the swapping commenced, and 61 swaps were made during the day. W. H. Chappell made nine, J. S. Mangum made seven, W. H. Lassiter made eight, and so on through the chapter. The swapping continued until 8 o'clock in the night, and occasionally a Barlow knife was the only boot given. The affair passed off most pleasantly, and there was plenty to eat and drink on the occasion. It was a genuine "Louisburg swapping scene," and our friends of the latter burg will have to look to their laurels.

SOMETHING QUEER.—We have seen in this city a negro who, by the application of a process which he refuses to divulge, has entirely changed the hue of his skin, (which was formerly a coal black,) his color being now nearly white or under a rapidly bleaching process. By the same or another process he has removed his kinky hair, and this portion of his adornment is rapidly developing into a straight almost blonde head of hair. Will wonders ever cease?

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA.—The Annual meeting of the Board of Trustees of the University of North Carolina will be held at the Executive office in the city of Raleigh on Thursday, 16th December, 1875, at 10 o'clock A. M.

C. H. BROGDEN, Gov.,
ex-officio Chairman.
KEMP P. BATTLE, Secretary.

RELIGIOUS.—The Rev. Dr. Marshall will commence a course of lectures on Christianity in its relations to certain modern phases of infidelity, in the chapel of Christ Church on Thursday evening. The series will begin promptly at a quarter past seven o'clock. Seats all free, and the public, as always, cordially invited to attend.

THE ROANOKE RIVER.—A Weldon correspondent, under date of yesterday, says:

"The Roanoke river rose rapidly yesterday and reached nearly the top of its banks; last night, however, it fell some three inches. It is raining hard this morning, and apprehensions are felt that the river will rise again and overflow the low grounds in which there is still a great deal of corn ungathered. C."

VALUABLE PLATE FOUND.—A correspondent, writing us from Tarboro, says:

"Dr. A. H. McNair, of this place, day before yesterday was gratified to learn that a quantity of silver-ware, which had been in the family a number of years, buried by him during the war about a mile from the town of Louisburg, where he was "refugeeing" at the time, had been found and awaited his order. Soon after the Yankees had left for more genial parts, search was made, but some one previously found out the place and appropriated the hidden treasure, the Doctor thought. There were 27 pieces, and as all were marked with the initials 'A. H. M.' it is presumed the thief feared to dispose of them; at any rate, they were concealed in the loft of an old tenement house, which being overhauled a few days ago for repairs, the ware was discovered by an acquaintance of Dr. McNair's, who notified him immediately by mail. The value of the silver is over $500."

A CURIOUS INCIDENT OF BARBARITY.—A correspondent of the Portsmouth Enterprise, writing from Edenton, under date of the 3rd inst., says:

"A most atrocious deed was committed in this county last week by a fiend (for he certainly should not be classed with human beings) by the name of Humphrey, who is now lodged in jail to await the action of the grand jury. This fellow it seems, had some quarrel with, or spite against a man by the name of Hill, and in order to obtain revenge, took a little girl five or six years of age, the daughter of Hill, and cut between the fingers of both hands down to the knuckles, and then striped the back of the hands with gashes. The child is in a critical condition."

VALUE OF IMPROVED STOCK.—A writer in the New York Times puts the question plainly in saying that if a farmer keeps thirty cows that average $30 a year each for milk, and he can increase the average to $40 a year by the use of a thoroughbred bull, of a good milking breed, he can afford to pay a good sum for a bull. And yet better results than this have been accomplished. If he is raising cattle for beef, and he can add 200 pounds to the carcass of each, by the time it is ready for the shambles, by the use of a short-horned bull, it will certainly be profitable for him to pay a good price for such a bull. And yet this is the average result of using thoroughbred bulls on the native cows of our country, as estimated by all the best stock breeders. And this two hundred pounds is clear gain, for it is produced with no greater consumption of food. If the use of a thoroughbred ram on a flock of common ewes will increase the weight of fleece one pound, on the average, certainly more than "five in a hundred could make it pay;" whether more than one in five would or not, is another question. And so with hogs. The difference between the common "woods" breed of the past, and the improved breeds of to-day is beyond comparison.

The railroad cars now convey passengers within seven miles of Hot Springs, Ark., and it is expected that by the 1st January the trains will run to the Hot Springs themselves.

Ex-Governor Foote, of Tennessee, in a long letter to the Knoxville (Tenn.) Chronicle, advocates the renomination of President Grant for a third term.

[For the Daily News.

The "Daily News" Banquet Vindicated from the Attack of the "Spirit of the Age," by a Guest.

Editor of the News:—There are some things which custom has made it almost a crime to speak of in other than the most complimentary terms. Society is so regulated and governed, that criticism may be indulged in with perfect freedom, under certain circumstances; yet, it is held to be highly improper to do so in all cases, even when criticism is deserving. There is a kind of mock modesty and false morality that is practiced all over the land, that to say aught against one lays himself liable to the severest denunciations. Fanaticism often overshadows reason, and there are always to be found a class of enthusiasts in every good work who frequently do the cause they advocate more harm than good.

To say anything disapproving of the conduct of some of our friends who are engaged in the noble work of temperance, one lays himself liable to be counted among the opponents of temperance, if not an advocate and friend of drunkenness; therefore, what we may have to say on the subject must be expressed with due caution and in the mildest language, or the writer hereof will be held up in some of our Temperance Journals as "attempting to make drunkenness tolerable" or of being a fit character to participate in a "bacchanalian revel." We propose to say nothing against Temperance, or against any one who is engaged in this truly noble cause. We are in favor of temperance—temperance in the full meaning of the word. We are in favor of our Temperance societies—both the Friends of Temperance and the Good Templars. We wish them God speed in their noble work of trying to save fallen humanity, and of rescuing the inebriate from a premature grave, and we admire the self-sacrificing spirit of many of the noble men and women engaged in the cause. While I say this much, I say further that the intolerant spirit exhibited by some of the over-zealous, has a tendency to weaken rather than strengthen the good cause in which they are engaged.

Wherever this intolerant and bigoted spirit manifests itself (so plainly as it has in the case we have in view,) it should be rebuked whether it be exhibited in our churches, temperance societies, politics, or society at large. Because the charge might be made that opposition against some good cause was intended is no reason why error and bigotry should be handled so delicately that it could not be ascertained whether opposition or approbation was intended. Let the plain unvarnished truth be spoken, and no pandering to sickly sensibilities.

The foregoing thoughts have been suggested by a fanatical article that appeared in the Spirit of the Age, of the 4th inst., under the heading "Thanksgiving—The NEWS Banquet."

That there was wine at the Banquet, no one denies. That the wine, or a portion of it, at least, was drank, no one will pretend to deny. But, that there was a "bacchanalian revel" or that it was intended to "make scenes of revelry and drunkenness even tolerable," is—well, simply not true. A more genteel and orderly assemblage of the business men of Raleigh scarcely ever met together before. It was a social gathering of the best men of the city—men of almost every profession and occupation. There were ministers, teachers, doctors, lawyers, merchants, mechanics, clerks and laborers, all mingling together in that happy and social spirit that should be manifested by gentlemen on such occasions.

Names of gentlemen present will be omitted, as there are many people who dislike to see their names appear in the public prints; but does any one suppose that the two distinguished ministers present, that the venerable ex-Judge and his two honored sons, that the leading dry-goods merchants, that nearly all of our enterprising grocery merchants and cotton factors, that the three Sabbath School Superintendents, and the majority of our private citizens present, were the class of people to engage in a "bacchanalian revel?" The charge is a slander on both their morality and their intelligence.

We blame not the members of the temperance societies for their zeal in the cause in which they are engaged, but their zeal ought to be tempered with a slight admixture of discretion. Such intemperate charges are not calculated to advance the good work in which they are engaged. The cause cannot be advanced much by such charges against the very best men in the community, for the reason that the public cannot be made to believe that they are supported by either truth, justice or sincerity. To charge such men as were present on the occasion of being engaged in a "bacchanalian revel," and attempting to "make scenes of revelry and drunkenness even tolerable" cannot but recoil on the heads of the accusers.

It was unfortunate for the writer that he ever wrote such an article, and it was still more unfortunate that the Age gave it publicity.

Temperance, or total abstinence, which is the proper term to be used in connection with our friends, the Good Templars, cannot be successful in winning the affections and commanding the confidence of the people at large by a course of misrepresentation and abuse, prompted by an intolerant and bigoted spirit. Let them remember this, and let them have discretion enough at least, not to denounce every social gathering as a "bacchanalian revel," an attempt to "make drunkenness tolerable!"

N.

THE EVIL FRUITS OF WEAK DIGESTION.—There is no pathological fact more clearly ascertained than that the most formidable phases of nervous disease are directly traceable to imperfect digestion. Insomnia, with its train of direful consequences, proceeds more frequently from weakness of the stomach than from any other cause. Mere sedatives are powerless to cure nervousness, and soon cease to palliate its symptoms. The true way to strengthen the nervous system is to invigorate the digestive and assimilative organs, upon whose unobstructed action its equilibrium is absolutely dependent. The daily use of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will do more to brace and soothe the weakened and irritated nerves, and induce sound, refreshing sleep—nature's grand cathalicon—than all the so called nervines to be found in the pharmacopœia or out of it. A wineglassful of the Bitters should be taken before each meal.

THE MOTHER'S CONSOLATION.

Lines occasioned by the loss to earth of a seven weeks flowret, named Jeanette Godwin Lawrence:

"Why seek ye the living among the dead."
Two Angels—Luke 24, 1—6.

There's a flower-bed for Heaven, wide-spread over Earth,
Sweet flowers spring forth from its sod;
Some bloom, but to vanish few days after birth,
To grow up in the garden of God.

For the fruit trees and flowers above;
And what man calls Death—is the signal to rise,
To life, grandeur, glory and love.

The mystery of time World's ne'er unravels clear,
Till the crown'd CHRIST disgraces the cross:
The last trump shall sound—the Great White Throne appear—
To adjudge Heaven's gain, and Earth's loss!

Now, each bright guardian angel watches her care,
Send, like lightning she wings to the spot,
Takes the flower to her bosom up Heaven to bear—
Man weeps—as if it was not!

Why weepest thou, Mother? "'Tis well with thy child."
Who said? "Suffer children to come,"
Who's heart is so tender, so gentle, so mild,
As the LORD'S to His young lambs at HOME!

The ever Blessed ONE delighteth to bless—
Is silent to God and adore—
What's NO upon Earth, in Heaven is YES—
Man dies once—to live evermore!

JEANETTE yet lives—no tear nor pain more;
For GOD loves all children far best—
Go meet her—go clasp her on yon shining shore—
Then two heavens will fill your fond breast.

Mothers! Hope on in GOD, whose own gentle hand
Wipes away the sad tears from all eyes;
Till the Grand Day-Break burst thro' the Upper Beyond,
And we know ALL that's hid by the skies.

Notice to Correspondents.

No letter can be published in these columns which is not authenticated by the name of its author. This we require not for publication, but as a guarantee of the good faith of correspondents. Persons who violate this rule will have their communications consigned to the waste-basket.

THE WEEKLY NEWS is the cheapest paper published in North Carolina. It is only one dollar per year, postage paid, contains 32 columns of plain printed news from every section of the country, and important advertisements. Always Cash.

THE National Republican says Col. Lamar's speech reads very much like a Republican campaign document—a very equivocal compliment, since Republican documents always go by contraries; they teach retrenchment when they mean extravagance; they teach honesty when they encourage frauds in the revenue: they preach civil-service reform when they open the gates of office to ignorance to all the superserviceable tools of party.

As the Republican has made a decoy set at the Southern members, its criticism on Lamar are not worth a straw.

THERE is much truth in this from the Cincinnati Commercial: There is no Southern State that Grant cannot get in Convention if he wants it; * * * * * the joke of it is that none of them but South Carolina are in a condition to do him any good at the polls.

And the reason of this is self evident. The bread and butter army of office holders will pack any Convention in any Southern State, and nominate Grant if he orders it. But the people are not so ready to obey, and by the time of the next election will be very apt to declare that they have had enough of him.

THE election of Mr. Kerr over Mr. Randall extracts as much grief from the National Republican as if the Republican party had received a damaging blow. It is a subject upon which that sheet might be silent except as a partizan critic. The motive is very clear, however, which is to create a breach between the friends of Randall and of Kerr; more malignant still, to keep alive the ill feelings engendered by the war.

The Republican enlightens the country to the fact of the strength of a party at the North who cling so tenaciously to the old doctrine of States rights as to be able to put a check upon the headlong route to centralization.

Other Northern papers, or rather their correspondents, are bitter vero the defeat of Randall because it is a blow at their hard money theories. The Southern journals will take the choice very philosophically, because the Speaker is at least a Democrat, which is more comfort than they have had since the close of the war.

"WRONG doers, no matter how high, or low, shall be fearlessly arraigned and freely exposed and punished." This is the comforting assurance which Col. Lamar gives in his speech to the Democratic caucus. Secretary Bristow, to his lasting honor be it said, has already set out on that tour of duty. Let not the Republicans claim that it is their act, and that they are quite as prompt to punish discovered guilt as the Democrats. Secretary Bristow began the crusade alone, and continued against the open opposition of the party from the President down to the meanest official in the whiskey ring. It was only when facts were brought so near home as to come within one of the President himself that a show of virtue is made. Babcock has two chances to vindicate himself, one before the military court of enquiry, and the other, in his civil character, before the U. S. District Court in St. Louis.

Babcock must not be prejudged. Yet the calm, fearless and intelligent jury of the St. Louis Court so far has made no mistakes. It has sagaciously struck and followed the trail, and in every instance has run the game to earth. It is not likely that they are at fault in the indictment of Babcock. And if he is caught—why then!

TO POULTRY FANCIERS.

We are in receipt of a circular addressed by Messrs. Woolridge, Chiles, Payne, Elyson and Bowman, of the city of Richmond, Va., addressed to poultry fanciers in Virginia and North Carolina proposing to form an association to be known as THE VIRGINIA AND NORTH CAROLINA POULTRY AND PET STOCK ASSOCIATION.

The idea is a good one. The advantages of improved stock of any description cannot be too urgently pressed. We see the benefit of it in horses, cattle, hogs and sheep, where new and improved varieties are introduced. The people appreciate such changes, and old stocks and inferior breeds are displaced. Economy in raising, profit in selling, are both advanced, and in no way has it been done so well as by associations analogous to the one proposed for poultry. The beautiful and wonderful exhibitions of varieties of fowls at our State Fairs bring to a knowledge of the people, specimens, now rare and in few hands, but which might supplant to eminent advantage the old varieties which occupy place better made vacant. Dorking fowls as heavy as common turkeys would drive out the "dunghill," a wonder, if it weighs five pounds. And so with all other fowls. And it is the object of the Poultry Association to bring about this revolution.

ESCAPE OF TWEED.

The city of New York woke up the other morning to find that the only monument it had ever set up to honesty had been pushed down; that the only victim it ever offered up to appease the offended law had only been half sacrificed; in other words, Boss Tweed, the patern thief was at liberty, and was putting the sea between him and imprisonment.

New York received more than its due share of applause when its grand juries found courage enough to present this magnificent felon, and when purity enough was found in its petit juries to convict him on the indictments found against him. A millenium seemed to have been reached when Tweed was tumbled down from his high estate, and sent with lower criminals to wear the distinguished garb of the Penitentiary. But the spasmodic act of public virtue showed itself to be but a spasm. It was a violation of the nature of the city, and the law was found but a feeble mesh through which he easily broke from his more degrading incarceration. His confinement in Ludlow street jail has been farcical, as a punishment. It was an indulgence a poor criminal would not have been permitted. As money raised Tweed to the height of his insolent power, so money softened the rigors of his confinement, and at length turned the keys of his prison.

Really, however, Tweed is no more deserving punishment than hundreds of others who encouraged his dishonesty and shared with him the plunder of the city. He was made the scape goat for his associate rascals, who calmly saw him sacrificed while they escaped. New York deserves to lose in money and character while she encourages such a system, and when she fails to make punishment sure when she has the power to strike a telling blow. The liberation of Tweed from the Penitentiary was a confession of vicious weakness. His final escape is the natural consequence.

COL. LAMAR'S SPEECH.

The address of this gentleman, as chairman of the Democratic caucus, though outside of Congress, may be taken as the chart by which the Democratic House has determined to sail. Col. Lamar does not express his opinions simply in the way of advice and suggestion, but as a definite course of action deliberately marked ont, and faithfully to be followed by the party of which he is the spokesman. If so, the country has reason to bless the day when the rapid down-grade progress of radical rule was brought to an abrupt end, and the toilsome course of re-ascent was undertaken.

Col. Lamar puts in a very strong light the relation of the House of Representatives to the other co-ordinate branches of the government and illustrates not only its powers, but its duties to hold them to a rigid reckoning whenever they have departed from the lines prescribed by the constitution and the laws. To these co-ordinate departments, there is appalling significance in what may be taken as the solemn resolve of the House—a body guided by "unerring instinct or keen intelligence" to establish the facts that the "public service has not been directed from considerations of public good, but from those of party profit, and for corrupt, selfish and unpatriotic designs." There is also a terrible warning that will make a rattling of the dry bones in the resolve "to make a vigilant examination into the administration of the public revenue of the country both in its collection and in its disbursement" and "that corruption be ferretted out, and wrong doers, no matter how high or low, shall be fearlessly arraigned and freely exposed and punished."

This is language the country has long yearned to hear, because it is the only language that can give it hope for an end to the seemingly endless career of waste, of extravagance and of corruption. It is the people's money with which the administration and its pets have been playing ducks and drakes. It is the people's hard earnings that have wrung from them to fatten the fortunes of worthless partizans; or to bind upon them still stronger the fetters of what is now a semi-imperial despotism. The speech of Col. Lamar is the first flash of that light which is to illumine the whole country and inspire its hearts with the first gleam of a hope that the end of itl troubles approaches.

[Condensed from the Wilmington Star.]

The Secretary then called the roll of members of the Conference who were not heretofore present. The following lay delegates answered: J. W. Gidney, Shelby district; J. W. Leak, Fayetteville district; J. W. McGee, Wilmington district; B. W. Brown, Washington district.

The continuation of the 20th question, "Are all the preachers blameless in life and in official administration" with regard to elders, pastors of churches, which was commenced on the previous day and not finished up to the hour of adjournment, was taken up and concluded.

During the pending of the 20th question, the matter of colored members of the different churches came up.

The Bishop spoke in terms of regard and esteem of the colored Methodists, and the discussion was participated in by Rev. Dr. Closs, R. O. Burton, E. A. Yates and W. S. Black. It was shown that the colored membership had fallen off, especially in the Washington and Newbern districts, and it was shown that especially in those districts the colored members had become attached to the colored Methodist church. The Bishop advised the greatest care and attention of the preachers to this matter and said they were and would always be glad to welcome the colored Methodists to the fold; that while he did not mean to disparage the labors of their white brethren of the North among them, still he knew that none had more effect and influence with the colored Methodist of the South than the Southern white ministers. The Southern Methodists were anxious to greet them for their spiritual welfare.

Rev. W. H. Moore arose and stated that he had been requested by Bishop Bebee, colored, of the A. M. E. Church, to bear the regards of himself and his people to the Conference.

Rev. J. F. Smoot was located and a resolution expressing the high regard of the Conference for that gentleman was adopted.

After announcements by the chairmen of committees regarding statistics and finances, question 25, "What local preachers are recommended for Deacons' Orders," was taken up.

Rev. Dr. Closs moved that the Rev. Matthew C. Heppenstall, a minister of the M. E. Church, who had made application to that effect, be received with the Conference, he to take the vows of a minister without being re-ordained. After inquiring into the condition and standing of the applicant and a discussion participated in by Revs. D. R. Bruton, Dr. Closs, P. J. Carraway, Ira T. Wyche, J. P. Moore and J. B. Bobbitt, the question was laid over for future consideration.

Question 25th was again taken up, the following gentlemen of the districts designated being admitted to deacon's orders, viz; Revs. I. N. Mann, Hillsboro District; W. H. Pegram, Greensboro District; W. P. Williams, Salisbury District; B. F. Dixon, Shelby District; J. H. Davis, Wilmington District and Wm. O'Neil, Newbern District, John J. Sutliff, from the Salisbury District, failed to pass the vote of the Conference. The case of Rev. J. W. Shackford, a candidate for deacon's orders, proposed by Rev. Dr. Closs, who read a recommendation of that gentleman from the Washington District Quarterly Conference, elicited some discussion. Under the church discipline a preacher to be eligible to deacon's orders was required to have been either a traveling preacher for two years or a local preacher for four years. Mr. Shackford had been a local preacher for three years and a traveling preacher for one year.

Dr. Closs contended, and urged learnedly and ingeniously that the requirements of the rule were answered.

Revs. Dr. Craven and N. H. Wilson opposed, and Rev. R. O. Burton favored.

The Bishop expressed an opinion favorable to the affirmative side of the argument, but declined to pronounce a decision, but would bring the question up before the College of Bishops at their next meeting for their adjudication. The matter was laid over to await their action.

The question "Who are recommended for Elders' Orders" was next taken up, and Rev. Neil McNair Smith of the Charlotte district, was elected.

The Bishop announced that the ordination of Deacons would take place in Front Street Church to-day at the 11 o'clock service, and enjoined the candidates to be in readiness.

On motion of Rev. N. H. D. Wilson the Bishop was authorized to draw on the treasury of the Conference for $196 83 to be paid over to the Chairman of the Joint Board of Finance.

Question 29, "Where shall the next session of the Conference be held," was taken up.

Rev. N. H. D. Wilson invited the body to Greensboro, Rev. C. M. Pepper to Monroe.

After some discussion, participated in by Revs. N. H. D. Wilson, Dr. Closs, E. A. Yates and A. W. Mangum, the vote was taken and resulted in Greensboro being chosen.

TWEED'S ESCAPE—THE POSSIBILITIES OF HIS ARREST.—A New York dispatch gives the following important opinion in connection with the recent escape of Boss Tweed:

An old lawyer, familiar with the relations of the events, to both its civil and criminal aspects, said: "The defendant is liable to rearrest by the Sheriff on bail piece, and by any private person on charge of felony, because he is under indictment for forgery. The Sheriff will be liable to pay whatever judgment may in the civil action be recovered. Mr. Tweed can, however, defend as well in escape as in custody. The Sheriff, although he gives bonds in only $2,000, will be liable for the amount of ultimate recovery. He will now have an interest in procuring a verdict in Tweed's favor. The latter can be extradited, because he is indicted for forgery, and one which existed at common law. The distinction came up, it will be remembered, in the Lawrence case. Merely statutory forgery is not within extradition treaties; but the illustrious defendant can be taken in Canada, Great Britian or France, but not in Belgium."

A curious circumstance was that Tweed and Lawrence occupied the same cell or room, one was President of the American Club when the other was Secretary. Lawrence's real name is Lazarus. Thus Dives and Lazarus occupied the same room. Now it is that Dives has gone to the bosom of some Belgian Abraham perhaps. But wherever gone he is asking the great public, who are plaintiffs, "What are you going to do about it?" Another coincidence is that while Mr. O'Conor, the legal prosecutor, is dying, Tweed his legal prisoner, is flying away.

Colonel and Brigadier General Borbon, two Spanish Princes, cousins of Alfonso, are aiding Captain General Valmaseda to crush the Cuban patriots. The princest were formerly officers in the Carlist cause, but having surrendered to the Alfonsist, were commissioned as officers in the Spanish army and sent to Cuba to aid the pompous obese Valmesada in his bloody work of subjugation. Rumors are now current in Spain that these men are secretly pulling the Carlist wires in Cuba, and consequently spies have been placed upon their track who are closely watching their movements.

The Johnson-Imboden affair is still keeping the Richmond people excited. General Imboden refuses to be bound over to keep the peace, claiming that he has neither violated the peace nor can it be shown that he intends doing so. On the other hand, the officers of the law express the belief that unless the parties are restrained, Messrs. Johnson and Imboden will meet either on the street or on the field. The case was being heard on Monday.

The New York Sun says: "Cardinal McCloskey secured aid while in Rome to the building of the Cathedral in Fifth avenue. He says that the structure will be completed before the end of 1877. He gave the order in Italy for an altar to be placed in the cathedral at a cost of $250,000. It will be made of the finest Italian marble, spacious, and of the Gothic style of architecture, and plentifully decorated with jewels and mosaics. The work is already under way, and will be imported before many months.

There is a mountain in Colorado called Democratic mountain, and on it there is a path known as the Beecher trail. It runs along the sharp and ragged edge of many a yawning precipice.

Parents, mothers, nurses, do not fail to give Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup to the little ones for all cases of coughs and colds. Only costs 25 cents.

The Babcock Implication in the Whiskey Frauds.

NEW YORK Dec. 7.—A St Louis dispatch of 6th to the Herald says: The United States Grand Jury did no work to-day, having adjourned until to-morrow morning. A report is current this morning that a true bill has been found against Gen. Babcock last Saturday and that a warrant for his arrest was en route for Washington, but the report was without foundation. There is authentic information on the subject to the effect that the Grand Jury will have the evidence under considera and to-morrow. Immediately after their meeting a vote will be taken on the subject. The District attorney was absent from the city to-day and the object of postponing the vote until to-morrow was to consult him on some point of law.

Disaster to the Steamer Deutschland.

LONDON, Dec. 7.—Lloyd's agent at Rochester reports this morning that a boat came ashore in that vicinity from the steamer Deutschland of the North German Lloyds from Brem[illegible], December 4th, for New York. The boat contained one man and dead bodies of two others. The man reports that the Deutschland is aground somewhere in the North sea. Lloyd's agent at Sheerness nearer the mouth of the Thames confirms the news of the disaster to the Deutschland, but gives no further details. The two men perished from long exposure, having been in the boat for 38 hours.

More of the Steamer Deutschland.

NEW YORK, Dec 7.—Östriehs and Co., agents of the North German Lloyds, line have received no dispatches relating to disaster to Deutchland. They could not tell the name of the Captain, officers, or crew, as they are all new, the vessel having been laid up in Bremen since February. The agents say it is probable only a very few passengers were on board, the tide of immigration at this season of the year being slack. They have telegraphed to the other side for the passenger list.

The rescued seaman, August, says that the steamer struck a sand bank in the North sea. One boat left the ship before that occupied by August and his companions. The fate of that boat is unknown. The fate of the Deutschland itself is also unknown. August believes she is totally lost, with all her passengers and crew. They numbered one hundred and fifty.

FROM WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—The message opens: "In submitting my seventh annual message to Congress in the centennial year of our national existence as a free and independent people, it affords me great pleasure to recur to the advancement that has been made from the time of the Colonies one hundred years ago. We were then a people numbering only three millions; now we number more than forty. Then industries were confined almost exclusively to the tillage of the soil; now manufactures absorb much of the labor of the country. Our liberties remain unimpaired; the bondsmen have been freed from slavery, and we have become possessed of the respect, if not the friendship, of all civilized nations." Graphic and well worded details follow. The President earnestly recommends that a constitutional amendment be submitted to the legislatures making it the duty of each State to establish and forever maintain free public schools adequate to the education of all children in rudimentary branches within their respective limits, irrespective of sex, color, birth, place or religion, forbidding the teaching in said schools of religious, atheistic or pagan tenets and prohibiting the granting of any school funds or school taxes or any part thereof, either by legislative, municipal or other authorities for the benefit or in aid, directly or indirectly of any religious sect or denomination, or in aid, or for the benefit of any other object of any nature or kind whatever. He alludes to the importance of correcting the evil of vast amounts of untaxed church property, and estimates that by 1890, if unchecked, this property will reach a sum exceeding three thousand million dollars. He would suggest the taxation of all property equally, excepting only the last resting place of the dead.

Relations with most foreign powers continued on a satisfactory and friendly footing. The President is happy to announce the passage of an act by the general consent of Portugal, abolishing slavery in the colonies.

The past year has furnished no evidence of an approaching termination of the ruinous conflict which has been raging for seven years in Cuba. The same disregard of the laws of civilized warfare and the just demands of humanity which have heretofore called forth expressions of condemnation from the nations of Christendom, have continued to blacken the sad scene. Desolation, ruin and pillage are pervading the rich fields of one of the most fertile and productive regions of the earth, and the incendiaries torch, firing plantations and valuable factories and buildings, is the agent marking the alternate advance and retreat of the contending parties The President narrates damage to the interests of all commercial nations, especially to those of the United States and the insecurity of property owned by citizens of the United States in Cuba. He had hoped Spain could be enabled to establish peace in her colony. Because of this hope and from an extreme reluctance to interfere in the affairs of another and a friendly nation, he has patiently and anxiously awaited the progress of events. The armed bands of either side now occupy the ground as in the past.

The President makes a long argument and concludes: "A recognition of the independence of Cuba being in my opinion impracticable and indefensible, the question which next presents itself, is that of the recognition of belligerent rights in the parties to the contest." After further argument, the President concludes: "The recognition of independence or of belligerency being thus in my judgement equally inadmisible, it remains to consider what course shall be adopted. Should the conflict not soon be brought to an end by acts of the parties themselves, and should the evils which result therefrom, affecting all nations, and particularly the United States, continue in such event, I am of opinion that other nations will be compelled to assume the responsibility which devolves upon them and to seriously consider the only remaining measures possible, mediation and intervention." After further statement, he says, "at the same time, while thus impressed, I do not at this time recommend the adoption of any measure of intervention." He adds, "persuaded however, that a proper regard for the interests of the United States and of its citizens entitle it to relief from the strain to which it has been subjected by the difficulties of the questions and the wrongs and losses which arise from the contest in Cuba, and that the interest of humanity itself demand the cessation of the strife before the whole Island shall be laid waste and larger sacrifices of life be made, I shall feel it my duty, should my hopes of a satisfactory adjustment and of the early restoration of peace and the removal of future causes of complaint be unhappily disappointed, to make a further communication to Congress at some period not far remote and during the present session, recommending what may then seem to me to be necessary."

Alluding to smuggling through the free zone and cattle raids on the Rio Grande, the President says, "an experiment of an armed vessel on the Rio Grande for that purpose is on trial, and it is hoped that if not thwarted by the shallowness of the river and other natural obstacles, it may materially contribute to the protection of the herdsmen of Texas."

Ocean telegraphs are discussed at great length, but no allusion is made to the postal telegraph.

Discussing specie resumption, the President says: "Too much stress cannot be laid upon this question, and I hope Congress may be induced at the earliest day practicable to insure consummation of the act of the last Congress at its last session, to bring about specie resumption on and after the first day of January, 1879, at farthest. It would be a great blessing if this could be consummated at even an earlier day. Nothing seems to me more certain than that a full, healthy and permanent reaction cannot take place in favor of the industries and financial welfare of the country until we return to a measure of values recognized throughout the civilized world. While we use a currency not equivalent to this standard the world's recognized standard of specie becomes a commodity like products of the soil, the surplus seeking a market wherever there is a demand for it. Under our present system, we should want none nor would we have any were it not that customs dues are paid in coin, and because of pledges to pay the interest on the public debt in coin. The yield of the precious metals would flow out for the purchase of foreign productions and leave the United States hewers of wood and drawers of water, because of wiser legislation on the subject of finance by the nations with whom we have dealings. I am not prepared to say that I can suggest the best legislation to secure the end I most heartly recommend. It will be a source of great satisfaction to me to be able to approve any measure of Congress looking effectually toward securing the resumption. Unlimited inflation would probably bring about specie payments more speedily than any legislation looking to redemption of legal tenders in coin, but it would be at the expense of honor. The legal tenders would have no value beyond settling the present liabilities, or properly speaking, repudiating them. They would bring nothing after all other debts were settled. There are a few measures which seem to me important in this connection, and which I commend to your earnest consideration. A repeal of so much of the legal tender act as make these notes receivable for debts contracted after a certain date to be fixed in the act itself; say not later than the first of January 1876. A hearty reaction would set in at once and with it, a desire to make the currency equal to what it purports to be.

The President elaborates the good effects which would follow this suggestion. Second, that the Secretary of Treasury be authorized to redeem, say, not to exceed two million dollars monthly of legal tender notes by issuing in their stead a long bond bearing three sixty five hundredths per cent of denominations ranging from fifty to a thousand dollars each; third, that additional power be given to the Secretary of the Treasury to accommodate gold for final redemption either by increasing revenue or decreasing expenses on both. it is preferable to do both.

The restoration of the duty on tea and coffee is suggested; also the reduction on certain articles such as hardly pay for the cost of collection and such as enter into manufactures. He suggests some better means should be found for verifying claims against Government than through court claims, especially those growing out of the late war. They are in nearly every instance exorbitant. Discussing report of the Secretary of War, he invites special attention to making three hundred thousand of subsistence appropriation available before begining of the next fiscal year. The repeal of the law abolishing mileage and return to the old system of appropriation for torpedo trials by the corps of Engineers, permanent organization for signal corps.

The condition of our navy at this time he says is a source of satisfaction. Reviewing the details of defects as compared with other nations, he says, "but neither our continental situation or our foreign policy require that we should have a large number of these powerful cruising iron clads while our situation and the nature of our ports combine to make those of other nations little dangerous to us under any circumstances. We have fifty war ships including fifteen iron clads now in hand on the Atlantic Coast."

The postal service is entirely satisfactory. The President suggests the power for the exclusion of me chandise from the mails.

The method of treating Indians, adopted at the beginning of my first term, has been steadily pursued with satisfactory and encouraging results. It has been productive of evident improvement in the condition of that race, and will be continued with such modifications as experience may indicate to be necessary. He speaks cheerfully and liberally regarding the Centennial.

He says of the bureau of agriculture, it has accomplished much in disseminating useful knowledge to the agriculturalist, and also in introducing new and useful productions adapted to our climate, and is worthy of the continued encouragement of the Government.

He characterizes the condition of affairs in Utah as scandalous. As an institution polygamy should be banished from the land.

"As this will be the last message I shall have the honor of submitting to Congress before my successor is chosen, I will repeat or recapitulate the questions which I deem of vital importance and which may be legislated upon and settled at this session: First, that the States shall be required to afford the opportunity of a good common school education to every child within their limits. Second, no sectarian tenets shall ever be taught in any school supported in whole or in part by the State or Nation or proceeds of any tax levied upon any community; make education compulsory so far as to deprive all persons who cannot read and write from becoming voters after the year 1890, disfranchising none, however, on grounds of illiteracy who may be voters at the time this amendment takes effect: Third, Declare church and State forever separate and distinct, but each free within their proper spheres, and that all church property shall bear its own proportion of taxation. Fourth, drive out licensed immorality such as polygamy and the importation of women for illegitimate purposes. I recur again to the Centennial year. It would seem as though now, as we are about to begin the second century of our national existence, would be a most fitting time for those reforms. Fifth, enact such laws as will secure a speedy return to a sound currency such as will command the respect of the world. Believing that these views will commend themselves to the great majority of the right thinking and patriotic citizens of the United States. I submit the rest to Congress,

(Signed,) U. S. GRANT.

ENDOWMENT FOR GENERAL JACKSON'S DAUGHTER.—The following is an extract from a circular concerning the movement which, we are informed, will be started simultaneously in Virginia and Georgia, and which will doubtless receive the loving favor of all the South. The movement has received the approbation of General James L. Kemper, Governor of Virginia, and is now in the hands of one of Georgia's pet heroes for advice and consideration. The circular emanated from Charlottesville, Va., and the following is an extract:

"A movement is now on foot to endow little Julia, the child of Stonewall Jackson, and it is in such hands as will doubtless make it a success worthy of the name and fame of the great man whom two world's unite to honor. The soldiers and their families are making the movement, and chieftains endorse it. Only in sums of one dollar and hundredth parts of one dollar, will subscriptions be received, that all may partake of this feast of love, gratitude and honor, and none be debarred.
